 - Technologies of feeding and raising of livestock;
 - Quality and processing of stock-breeding production.
2. Forage Production and Grasslands
 - Genetic resources and selection in forage cultures;
 - Technologies of growing in forage cultures;
 - Natural and artificial grasslands and pastures.
3. Perennials
 - Genetic resources, selection, biotechnologies;
 - Technologies for growing – conventional and biological;
 - Reproduction and planting material;
 - Plant protection;
 - Quality, storage and processing of fruit.
4. General Agriculture

PAPER REQUIREMENTS

STRUCTURE OF THE PAPER

Papers should be up to 12 standard printing pages (A4), including tables and illustrations.

Each paper includes the following section: Summary with key words, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusions, References.

The text should be unformatted, in font Arial, in Word format. Units of measures should be noted by the International System SI. Latin names of plant and animal species are given according to international classification, in Italic.

Text is organized in the following way:

Title of paper should be brief, precise, without any abbreviations, written in normal (not capital) letters.

Author(s) – the name and surname are written in full. The exact name of the organization, where they work, is given, an e-mail address for correspondence, in Italic.

Summary (up to 250 words) describes briefly and clearly the basic information and the scientific contribution of the article.

Key words – up to 10 carefully chosen key words, as they are used in information search in electronic catalogues and databases.

Structured presentation – contains Introduction, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusions.

Acknowledgements (if there are any)

TABLES AND FIGURES

Tables and/or figures are printed on separate pages, oriented vertically and applied in the end of the text. It is recommended their size not to be larger than 13 cm in width and 18 cm in height.

Tables are presented in MS Word. They are numbered in Arabic numerals according to their sequence in the text.

Illustrations (graphics, diagrams, charts, schemes, pictures etc.) are regarded as "figures" and are numbered consecutively. They should be distinct and clear from text, presented in the following formats: xls, jpeg, tif. The figures are recommended to be black and white. The number and title of the figures is placed below them. All necessary indications are placed below the main title of the figure.

In the text are indicated the position of each table and figure.

REFERENCES

For all citations in the text the surname of the author is written in brackets (in Latin) and the year of publication, for example (Morris, 1991). In case of two authors, both names are given, for example (Barton and Moore, 1994), and for three or more authors is given the name of the first author, followed by "et al.", for example (Levi et al., 1994). When several authors are cited, their names are arranged chronologically, and when their publications are in one and the same year – they are placed in an alphabetical order.

A list with cited publications is applied separately, arranged in an alphabetical order according to the surname of the first author. When several publications are cited by the same author, first on the list are given one's individual publications, followed by publications in co-authorship. It is recommended to list the names of all authors.

All references in Cyrillic alphabet are written as the names of the authors and sources are transliterated in Latin, and the titles of papers or books are translated into English. The letters in transliteration are replaced according to the Law on Transliteration. The original language of publications, translated into English, is given after the references in brackets (Bulgarian = Bg, Russian = Ru, Serbian = Sr, Macedonian = Mk, Greek = Gr, etc.).

Example:

Stoyanova, N., V. Antonova and D. Serbezova, 2015. A study of introduced black currant varieties. Rastenievadni nauki, 52(2), 25-28 (Bg).

References of cited literature

a) Papers in scientific journals

The references of papers include the name of authors, year, title, source (in Italic), volume, number of issue, pages. The names of all authors are written, as the first author is given in inversion (surname, personal name), and the others – in a regular order (personal name and surname). Examples:

Popova, V., D. Drachev and V. Nikolova, 2006. Investigation on the burning properties of Burley tobacco grown in different regions of Bulgaria. Tobacco, 56(7-8), 159-164.

Solomon, P. S. and R. P. Oliver, 2001. The nitrogen content of the tomato leaf apoplast increases during infection by Cladosporium fulvum. Planta, 213(2), 241-249.

b) Books

References of books include the names of authors, year, title, publishing house, place of publication.

Example:

Lidanski, T., 1998. Statistical methods in biology and agriculture. Zemizdat, Sofia (Bg).

c) Parts of books and publications in collections of scientific forums

After the title is written "In:", as the pages are also given in the end.

McGrath, S. P., 1998. Phytoextraction for soil remediation. In: Plants that hyperaccumulate heavy metals (R. R. Brooks, ed.). CAB Int., Wallingford, UK, pp. 261-287.

Georgiev, D., H. Dinkova and M. Georgieva, 2008. Study of newly introduced cultivars of black and red currant. In: Proceedings of International Scientific Conference "Sustainable Fruit Growing: From Plant to Product", Latvia, pp. 46-53.

d) Summaries of papers from scientific forums

Baychev, V., 1994. Hybrids between (Triticum aestivum L. x Secale cereale L.) and Triticale (2n=6 +42). In: 3rd International Triticale Symposium, 13-17 June 1994, Lisbon, Portugal (Abstracts), B-12.

e) Dissertation

Petrova, V., 2015. Economically important pests of apple and fight with them at various technologies of cultivation. Dissertation, Kyustendil, Bulgaria.

Kenyon, L., 1990. Pathogenicity mutants of Fulvia fulva (Cooke). Ph.D. thesis, University of East Anglia, UK
